

Internship

Sustainability Research Assistant Analyst

The Company

Mirova is the subsidiary of Natixis Investment Managers fully dedicated to sustainable investing with about 12 billion euros under management.

Mirova's philosophy is based on the conviction that integrating ESG criteria into the investment process contributes to long-term value creation for the investor. As a result, we seek values positioned on sustainable development to benefit from sustainable growth trends that will shape the world in the coming years.

Some of these trends are based on demographic factors (population growth, ageing populations), others are socio-economic in nature (urbanization, changing modes of consumption in emerging countries, changes in global financial models), or are related to the environment (climate change, natural resource depletion) or technological innovation. Our investment process uses a fundamental approach based on bottom-up, conviction-based selection on the long term.

The Position

The Responsible Research team is responsible for advising the fund managers on environmental, social, and governance (ESG) themes. This extra-financial information complements the traditional financial analysis to inform investment decisions.

The intern will assist with the following responsibilities:

- ESG data collection and news flow monitoring
- contributing to the ESG analysis of companies and energy transition projects
- analyzing Green, Social and Sustainability Bonds and monitoring the market's developments
- voting and engagement with issuers
- publications on sustainable development themes;
- participating in the writing and conception of client and external reports.

The intern will interact with both internal (research team and portfolio management team) and external (brokers, companies, other stakeholders) contacts.

Candidate's Profile

A graduate of a business or engineering school, with a minimum of a bachelor's degree, a master's degree is preferred, and a Sustainability specialty is a plus. The candidate can analyze and summarize information and has excellent writing skills.

The candidate would have a good command of written and spoken English with the ability to use software, particularly MS Excel.

Length of the Internship: 6 months

Start Date: June / July 2020

Location: Paris 13ème
